Hi Ginnia,

Thank you very much for your email. Please note the construction is completed by City contractors not City employees. Neither less, its not acceptable for our contractor to communicate to anyone in such a manner. I'll bring the seriousness of this matter to our contractor's attention and make sure this situation does not happen again.

Thank you.

Hello,

I know it's over a month from the time of the incident, however, the end of the school year was very busy and I had a week where I was whisked away out of town for training and we were shutdown for a week, so I'm just getting to this. I think it's nevertheless important to report this to you. Please see the attached letter from one of our regular substitutes, Matthew Gould, who is a trusted employee and was trying to ensure student safety.

What was written there is highly concerning and I hope that in the future the city construction employees are trained to better communicate and accommodate the city residents who inhabit this area. I'm not totally sure of to whom this letter should go, so I'm trusting that one of you will ensure it gets to the right place so that should construction happen again, during the school year in an area with students, the employees will know how to better handle the situation. Please follow up so that I know that this went to the right place.

Thank you.
